ANZAC Day Parade 2015

Our thanks to Cadet Unit of the Melbourne High School Army Cadet Unit for their support in providing Cadets as Banner Bearers for our ANZAC Day Parade. The Cadets did a great job and their efforts were greatly appreciated by our members.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The Presidents Lunch was attended by 35 people. This included our special guests, Mrs Betty Ridgway and Mrs Roma Cox. The meal was enjoyed by all and a special thank you was extended to the staff at Clayton RSL especially Charles and his team for providing us with this delicious three course lunch! Unfortunately, Charles is leaving the RSL and we wished him success in his new venture.

On Thursday 23rd April, your Secretary Alan Rogers and I helped Clayton RSL sell Anzac Day badges at Monash Medical Centre.

Anzac Day was overcast, and about an hour before we stepped off we had light soaking rain. Due to this inclement weather, an executive decision was made not to unfurl and march behind our new banner. Instead, our older vinyl banner was used as it would not soak up the rain! We were fortunate enough to secure six Banner Bearers from Melbourne High School Army Cadet Unit who did their Cadet Unit proud by doing their utmost to keep 'in step' despite the two bands that were audible from our location in the march. One band, three groups to our front and one band, three groups to our rear and they managed not to play in unison!

On the 23rd March we had six veterans help support Alkira Secondary College year 9 students with their WW1 project. On Monday 27th April, several Association members attended an Anzac Day Remembrance Service at the College, and that afternoon, we moved on to Hillsmeade Primary School for a service conducted by VCAL (Victorian Certificate of Applied Learning) students from Alkira College.

Finally, on behalf of RAEME members from Victoria, I sincerely congratulate MAJ Richard Moyses CSM (President of AEME/RAEME Association of South Australia Inc.) who has recently been awarded the Conspicuous Service Medal (CSM) in the 2015 Queen's Birthday Honours List.

A well-deserved recognition, Richard.

The award was for "meritorious achievements as Detachment Commander and Staff Officer Grade 2 Career Advisor, Career Advisory Group – Central, Directorate of Reserve Officer Career Management – Army".

SECRETARY'S REPORT

RAEME Banner Cost

Several Comments have been made relating to the cost of the current Association Banner. The Banner was manufactured by an Australian firm in Blackburn. This firm manufactured the Prince Philip Banner and manufactures many Banners, Flags etc for the Australian Defence Forces. The costing of the Banner of $8030-00; details $4700-00 Government Grants & other donations Cost to the Association $3300-00 including individual carry poles covers, banner and two shoulder carriers. This would similar to the estimated cost from a company overseas for the Banner without the carry poles, individual covers for the poles and banner, the two shoulder carriers. The Committee feel that that actual cost to the Association was more than reasonable.

Committee of Management; Members wishing to nominate for the Committee of Management can obtain nomination forms from the Secretary.

Forms to be returned to the Secretary by 1800hrs 10th August 2015

ANZAC Day

30+ RAEME past & present serving members marched on the day which was an increase in the numbers from previous years. 1FSS Doveton provided a vehicle and driver for the march, the vehicle followed behind our marching RAEME members which several members took advantage of in order to be part of the day. After the March several members went back to the Palace Hotel in South Melbourne to join in the ANZAC Day festivities arranged by the Victoria Barracks Chapter. Our thanks to Alex Birrell and other members who assisted. All members enjoyed the day especially the two-up (some members' wallets would be a little lighter)

I understand a considerable amount of money was raised for the Salvation Army on the day. 6 Army Cadets Banner Bearers were supplied by MHSACU, (see front page photo). A letter of appreciation has been forwarded their OC

Alkira Secondary College

RAEME ACTIVITY IN VIET NAM

Vincent Neale crew commander on the carrier "Steele" reported locating the scattered remains of a skeleton, held together by his uniform. Fresh human footprints were still being discovered, in the minefield, particularly around the underground bunkers that were progressively being found, while the clearing operation was underway. A major bogging incident in the southeast of Dat Do during September reconfirmed the existence of NLF sappers living and working in the minefield. During the late afternoon clearing operations a carrier – minesweeper, had fallen through the roof of a sizeable underground bunker in some banana trees within the fence.

A bulldozer attempted to drag the carrier out, but it became bogged. A second dozer went to its aid but also became bogged. The dark of night arrived with the three machines unmovable. A company of infantry were added to the existing force and took their place in the Night Defensive Positions either side of the minefield around the bogged vehicles. During the night the infantry on the eastern side reported some brushing noises coming from inside the minefield. These were put down to the wind. Fortunately the area was approached by 1 Field with their usual caution as the machines and surrounding area had been booby trapped by local VC sappers, again using ordnance stolen from the minefield. They did this within 30 metres of the Australian infantry. This shows how desperate the local VC, were to retain control of their minefield arsenal. It was a credit to Australian Engineers that they were able to clear and secure the immediate without incurring any casualties. The bogged machines were then removed using a daisy chain of Centurion tanks. A few days later not far from this point, another underground bunker was identified by a "Choi Hoi" [VC defector from D445 Battalion] hidden under a tombstone.

This bunker contained 95 M.26 grenades with M5 pressure release switches. Probably product from this bunker was used to booby trap the machines. The enemy activity in the minefield, made the relentless effort, necessary to maintain the clearing operations. The uneven surface of the field and thick vegetation, apart from the interference of the lifting and sometime relocation of mines by "Charlie" made very difficult to account for the mines. Officially, 15872 mines had been laid around the Dat Do and southern sections of the minefield swept during Operation Frangimus 1 & 2.

According to the official count, a total of 9726 mines jumped in the same areas. Some 6146 mines, or 38 per cent of the total laid in those two areas were unaccounted for. A combination of VC mine-lifting and limitations in Australian Minesweeping methods accounted for that discrepancy.

Frangimus 3 saw a change in mine clearing method to the detection and burying of the wretched mines. A Land Clearing Team style Caterpillar D.8 was to be used.

Further modifications were made to a D8 where it was completely encased in steel plate around the protective frame [roll cage] with small observation slots cut into the plate with Tank-glass filling them. A radio was inserted for external contact to tower, ground crew etc. It was named Her Majesty's Armoured D8 "Power", after John Power O/C, of 1 Field Squadron Workshop, who was instrumental in the design and up armouring of the mine-clearing carriers. A third Carrier named "George" was modified and added to the team, along with two T.D 15 International 'dozers, which were also up – armoured.

The D.8. would dig bull bar blade width slots 2.5 metres wide, by 2.5 metres deep, by 90 metres long, every 100 metres across the mine field and then back fill them with 30-60 centimetres of top soil. The main peril was that the slots opened up a subterranean gallery of M16 mines and anti-lift devices that had gravitated down the slot walls at various angles. Meanwhile the carriers would continue making multiple passes in the other sectors of the field.

One Sapper who operated D.8. Colin Ventry Bowden had this version of "Dante's Inferno". As was standard practice with land clearing the operator wore a "heavy flak jacket" and had to live with the heat from the engine, radiator fan, gearbox, hydraulics and final drive, which all worked overtime due to additional weight of the machine. Of course mines were sticking up out of the ground everywhere, on all kinds of angles and invariably you back over one of these which would be setting of huge explosion and you could hear the shrapnel spraying all over the sides of the dozer. Many times I looked at the metal plating around the cabin and was very grateful, to the guys who did all the welding; another common occurrence was that when you ran over the mine, many times the grouser plates and track chains were blown totally off the machine, which left you incapable of moving and stuck in middle of the minefield. Enter the RAEME Recovery and fitters teams.

A GUIDE TO WEARING TO WEARING MEDALS AND BADGES

Reference: A. It's an Honour web site-www.itsanhonour.gov.au/honours/awards

Introduction

The following guide is designed to remove doubt, which can sometimes arise when having to decide when and how to wear awards. The official guide is to be found in reference A; [much of which is included here], but the following is an attempt to expand this guide as it applies to primarily Viet Nam Veterans and is produced in an effort to ensure uniformity going forward.

Overview

Recipients of awards are granted insignia as a visual expression of the honour conferred on them. For most Australian awards, the presentation box usually contains a range of pieces.:

- A. The full sized medal.
- B. A miniature medal with ribbon
- C. A ribbon bar, and
- D. For some awards, a lapel badge or brooch

How To Wear

Most Australian awards are pinned above the left breast. Multiple medals are mounted on a metal bar in the order set out in the Australian Order Of Wearing, usually done when the medals are professionally mounted or re-mounted.

The Infantry Combat Badge [ICB] and the Army Combat Badge [ACB] is worn central to the medal bar and pinned so that the bottom of the badge is approximately one centimeter [1cm] above the medal bar. They are not to be attached in any way to the medal ribbons. They are not to be polished.

The Returned From Active Service [RAS] Badge is worn on the left jacket lapel positioned near the button hole. The RAS Badge stands alone and not to be worn with any other embellishments including full or miniature medals i.e. when wearing medals the RAS Badge is not to be worn. It is also not to be polished.

Awards of deceased family members may be worn during commemorative events when the wearing of medals is appropriate, eg ANZAC Day, Vietnam Veterans Day. These awards are worn on the right breast, to indicate that the awards are not on their own.

Unofficial Medals/Badges

Ideally, unofficial medals should never be worn and definitely not worn at public ceremonial and commemorative events. They are never mixed with official medals. If you really must wear an unofficial medal [one you bought], it must be worn on the right breast. A list of unofficial [meaning not issued by the Federal Government] badges relevant to veteran members would include the VVAA badge, Long Tan Crosses

Of all designs, Life Membership badges, the RSL badge, the TPI badge, RAR and SASR badges, etc. There is no protocol for the wearing of these badges and they are seen as been commonly worn on the left lapel, however wearing of these badges should be kept to a minimum, particularly on formal occasions.

State Awards

These are not considered 'unofficial' and may be worn on the right breast.

When to wear/not To Wear

The difference insignia pieces are worn according to the type of event.

Day Functions

Full size medals are worn on the left breast at day functions where decorations have been prescribed. This would include:

All Vietnam Veterans Day commemoration services, ANZAC DAY services and Funeral services as requested. Miniature medals, RAS badges and unofficial badges should not be worn on these occasions.

Evening Functions

At events such as evening receptions and formal dinners where decorations have been prescribed, miniature medals and miniature ICB/ACB are generally worn. The RAS badge and unofficial badges are not worn on these occasions.

Everyday Wear

A lapel badge or brooch may be worn on civilian clothes eg. Suit coat or sports jacket, at any time. Only one badge or brooch is worn at a given time. This is the appropriate time to wear the RAS badge, but it is not worn when other insignia eg VVAA badge, RSL badge, are worn.

An Anzac Poem by Erin Marley (age 12)

Grand-daughter of Editor Pat Marley

She wrote this as part of an Anzac Project at Catherine McAuley School, Adelaide.

Poppies To Remember

I've always known that poppies grow
Beneath the crosses row by row
But I've never really questioned why
They choose to grow where dead men lie
Why choose to thrive where war once reigned
Where the world was full of terror and pain
Where many good men fought and fell
Fighting to survive in that living hell
I questioned why, so now I know
Why they thrive beneath the rows
They don't grow as a garden, not as of yet
They grow as a reminder:

"Lest We Forget"

OPERATION SPANNER PACK

This report has been lifted from the RAEME Association of SA Newsletter.

It is disappointing that RAEME Association of Vic did not receive a copy.

It should be noted that RAEME Association of Vic forwarded Magazines, DVDs, knitted articles of clothing, novels etc to the RAEME Troops in Afghanistan on a regular basis

The Spanner Pack operation is still busy keeping in touch with our brothers and sisters on deployed operations and they have recently provided another 50 Spanner Packs to our overseas members.

Please advise Ray Norman if you know of RAEME soldiers being, or who are deployed, to places other than Afghanistan. We need to ensure all deployed RAEME personnel get their packs. Ray would also like to hear from you if you know of anyone or any organisation who would like to donate items to refresh the contents of the packs.

This operation will continue whilst RAEME troops are on deployment, so your continued support is welcome.

They are still valued very much as the following letter suggests!

ARMY /UNIT UPDATE

Allan Hawkins / Mike Newbond

On Saturday 21 March, our Secretary and I attended the Welcome Home parade for OPERATION SLIPPER that was held at the Shrine of Remembrance. The Vietnam Vets and the Association had our banners displayed on the side, along the route of the parade in support of the diggers. The banners were of interest to some supporters of the march as we were asked if photos could be taken of the banner together with members of the public taking selfies (with the banner in the background)

As of 1 July 2015, the following changes will occur:

- The Defence, Materiel Organisation will be de-listed as an entity and will become the Capability Acquisition and Sustainment Group within the Department. The only position to be re-named at this stage will be the CEO of the Defence Materiel Organisation which will become the Deputy Secretary Capability Acquisition and Sustainment Group. Initially, the new Group will mirror the existing DM0 in structure. This will, however, change over time consistent with the First Principles Review and once the new Group Head is in place.
- Defence Support and Reform Group will be re-named Estate and Infrastructure Group;
- Defence People Group's new structure will commence and will include the Defence Learning Branch;
- Defence Security Agency will be re-named Defence Security and Vetting Service;
- Reform and Corporate Services Division will be re-named Governance and Reform Division; and . Commander Australian Defence College will become Head Joint Enablers Commander Australian Defence College.

The Capability Development Group and the Intelligence and Security Group will continue to operate as groups until around the end of this year or early 2016. Transition to the new arrangements is dependent on the finalisation of the White Paper and designing the new capability development process.

We also agreed a set of leadership behaviours. In developing these signature leadership behaviours, we have considered the Australian Public Service values, the Defence values, Pathway to Change as well as the values of Navy, Army and Air Force.

These are attached for your information. We would welcome any comments.

Please send to the Implementation Office - first.principles@2defence.gov.au.

A first draft of the work stream implementation plans were finalised last Friday, 5 June. Over the past week this has been further refined and will be considered by the Implementation Committee on 18 June 2015. Over the next few weeks, we will be finalising the Plan and having discussions with the Minister, the Oversight Board and central agencies. The progress report is attached for your information.

As we are close to the end of the plan development phase and about to move into implementation proper, there will be a Senior Leadership Group meeting on 22 July 2015 as well as a series of town hall meetings to discuss the Implementation Plan. We also intend to continue with our weekly and monthly emails to keep you informed of progress. If you have feedback on any improvements we can make in communicating with you and your staff, please email the Implementation Office at first.principles@defence.gov.au or contact either one of us direct.
